

Cyclone season: 1 November to 30 April

Screens tested against cyclone debris

Invisi-Maxx is the screen in the Invisi-Gard range that's built and tested to stop flying debris in a cyclone. You keep the light, the breeze and the view, all year round. Townsville is in cyclone region C.

How it's tested

In testing, debris is fired at the screen. For a home in the most extreme cyclone areas (region D), Australian Standards set that speed at 35.2 metres per second.

Invisi-Maxx has been independently tested by an accredited lab to exceed the requirements for cyclone regions C and D.

Standard for a home in region D

35.2 m/s

Invisi-Maxx, 0.8mm mesh · most homes

Up to 36 m/s

Invisi-Maxx, 1.2mm mesh · commercial and extreme cyclone locations

Up to 44 m/s

44 m/s is about 158 km/h.

Security

Heavy-duty frame and tamper-proof mesh retention. Tested to exceed the impact requirements of the Australian Standards for window and door security, and stands up to the knife test.

Light, air and views

Leave the windows and doors open to the breeze, and keep the view.

Salt air

Marine-grade 316 stainless steel. In salt spray testing the mesh went more than 2,000 hours with no corrosion, where 240 hours is the pass mark.

15-year warranty

Backed by Alspect, the Australian company that designs and tests it.

	Invisi-Gard	Invisi-Maxx
Mesh	0.8mm 316 stainless steel	0.8mm for homes, or 1.2mm for commercial and extreme cyclone locations
Frame	Aluminium frame	Heavy-duty frame with a mesh retention system
Cyclone debris tested	Not part of its testing	✓ Exceeds regions C and D
Warranty	Lifetime on the mesh for homes, 15 years on the frame	15 years

From Alspect's product information. Ratings depend on the right mesh for the building and correct installation, so for new builds, check with your certifier, and we can supply the test certificate. Wind pressure and flying debris are different tests.

Book a free measure before the season starts

07 4728 9554

admin@garrynevenblinds.com.au · garrynevenblinds.com.au

Showroom

Unit 2, 5-9 Turnbull St, Garbutt QLD 4814
Monday to Friday, 8am to 5pm, by appointment

Licensed Invisi-Gard dealer · Made in Australia